ABSTRACT: Adobe's $99 PageMill 2.0 and NewSoft's $29.95 Presto! PhotoAlbum are both excellent Web publishing programs that can be used to create family photo   albums for the Web . PageMill is designed for HTML-minded users and has Web design features. Presto! PhotoAlbum is easy to use and has ready-made designs that can be used to create a unique Web gallery in a matter of minutes. In thumbnail form, the product's Photo Browser displays the photos in the image folder. PhotoAlbum links to an existing image-editing program, allowing users to clean up photos on the fly. The software's Object Pool of graphics objects can be used to touch up photos. PageMill is more expensive than PhotoAlbum, but it includes a preview mode and renders text as an image so that any font can be used for special effects.
